

Side By Side

She had nowhere to go she couldn't flee
And now she has this memory

An amazing sight comes before her
In order to restore her

She uses her sleeve to dry her face Her wet tears will be replaced

Soon she will smile
But only for awhile

But now she knows
She has no foes

She will laugh through her tears
And face her fears

The true fun
Will never be done

She will laugh to the end Because she's with her friend.

Hope, Joy, Peace, Love, Faith

All you sweet kids out there, at Princess Margaret Hospital I am sending this message to you from the bottom of my heart because I know that you are feeling so much pain right now, maybe you cry at night from all pain that's in your heart, you may feel like this is the end, your life is ruined you can't change.
Stop that attitude and have some hope instead of doubt.

Because life is not marshmallows and candy, it is tough. And when the sickness and things that would make you feel like giving up hit, you just don't fall down. Stand taller and believe that there is a brighter future out there.

Kneel down and ask the Lord our God for what you need, for the Bible says ask and you will receive. Let your hope be steadfast and steady, because when you have Hope, Joy, Faith, Peace, Love and you believe in the Lord our God then no one can cut your rope!
